What do we mean when we say "Individual or Personal Income"

This will be the income you receive in your own name. We will not ask for evidence from other working adults in your household such as partner, spouse, parent/guardian(s), except when you do not have a personal income of your own and you are under 25 years old.

Please note that by income we also need to know about any benefits being received by any of the above. Evidence of all income will be required.

We do understand that employment and benefit circumstances can change very suddenly. If you are no longer working or have been made redundant, we will accept a copy of your redundancy notice letter.

When we have all the information required, we are then able to means-test your application. This is where we can award financial assistance, based your household income. This ensures that we make fair and reasoned decisions about who we can help the most.
